FORTHCOMING PUBLICATIONS

MANUSCRIPTS IN PROGRESS

“The Will to Life in Dune: The Impact of Arthur Schopenhauer on Frank Herbert’s Sci-Fi Classic”

- This project explores how the concept of the will to life found in Arthur Schopenhauer’s “The World is Will and Representation” came to impact Frank Herbert’s writing of Dune, and subsequently many other future works of science fiction.

“McDonaldization and The Reid Technique: Problematic Police Interrogation Practices

- This project recontextualizes the work of George Ritzer’s McDonaldization theory to examine how one of the most popular forms of police interrogation in the U.S., The Reid Technique, encourages problematic practices that are detrimental to an equitable justice process, and harmful to many of those who experience it.

“Other Direction and Dewey’s Great Community”

- This project examines John Dewey’s conception of the Great Community and explores some of the unique sociological and cultural obstacles that have stymied its development in light of David Riesman’s cultural analysis in The Lonely Crowd.
