

Margaret Yvette Rizzo

mrizzo@tamusa.edu

Education

M.A. - University of Texas at San Antonio
Major: History
Member Phi Alpha Theta

B.A. - Sul Ross State University
Major: Interdisciplinary Studies
Minor: Reading Specialization
Member Phi Theta Kappa

Professional Experience

2024 - Present - Texas A&M University – San Antonio
Adjunct History Instructor

2020-Present – Alamo Colleges District / Northwest Vista College
Adjunct History Instructor

2001-2025 - Northeast Independent School District
Instructor

Conference Presentations

Core Knowledge Conference, Philadelphia
Core Knowledge Conference, Atlanta
International Reading Association Conference, Chicago
Sean Covey Leader in Me Symposium

Research

Educational Inequities within the United States Caused by Public Policies – Research revealed the foundation of past and current inequities built into the education system in the United States. The paper argues that policies in the U.S. during the twentieth century and into the twenty-first century, have contributed to the under education of Latino children that prevail to this day.

Awards

2023 - NISOD Excellence in Teaching Award (National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development / Alamo Colleges District / Northwest Vista College)

Professional Organizations

American Historical Association

