Course Description

ENGL 1300 Co Req introduces students to college-level reading and writing through the development of reading habits and composing practices that will enable students to respond critically and communicate persuasively to a variety of audiences in various modes of writing. The course is split into three modules, Reading, Writing, and Research.

ENGL 1300 Course Goals

We will work with you this semester to

- understand different forms of reading (e.g., academic reading, reading for entertainment, rhetorical reading)
- read as a rhetorical act, requiring knowledge of audience, purpose, and context
- activate your prior knowledge to help you articulate your identity as a reader and writer
- transfer your knowledge of reading and writing across genres and modalities
- understand and critique the conventions, origin, and purpose of ASE
- use translanguaging as a method to interpret texts
- articulate the ways you engage in the reading process

- sharpen your ability to engage in the reciprocal relationship between reading and writing (i.e., strategies to use writing to engage in reading and to use reading to engage in writing)
- examine the ethical responsibilities of readers/writers

ENGL 1300 Section Goals

As an instructor, I work to accomplish these goals by

- teaching reading as a conversation between author and audience
- examining the difference between intended audience and actual audience
- approaching reading as an act of interpretation involving intersectional lenses

Required Course Material

All materials needed for this course are available through Open Education Resources and links will be provided on blackboard. I encourage you to look through these resources because there might be topics you are interested in learning about that we do not cover in class. Reading assignments will also be made available as pdf copies on blackboard before the assigned dates.

Supplies:

- A composition book/journal – writer’s notebook. This will be used not only for note taking, but for writing during class, recording ideas, song lyrics, drawing pictures, and reading and writing analysis. Keeping a writer’s notebook is part of your grade for this class.
- Access to a computer and reliable internet – computer labs are available on campus. Loaner computer are available in the library and can be checked out.

Blackboard

This course uses Blackboard extensively; most writings will be submitted as attachments on Learn, as will much of the homework. While some instruction will be provided, it is the student’s personal responsibility to learn how to attach files and submit work on Blackboard. There may occasionally be problems submitting work. In that case, try again. Try with a different browser. Contact the help desk. When all else fails, contact me via email and attach your assignment.

Grading Overview/Labor Based Assessment

I treat learning as a recursive and exploratory process involving continual revision, and reflection. I am also committed to affirming linguistic diversity and decolonial practices. For these reasons, I will use a labor-based approach to assessment. Labor-based assessment assesses you on the quality of your labor rather than the quality of your finished product. That is, I will assess your progress this semester based on the amount of work you complete, on your ability to meet deadlines and fulfill expectations, and on the time and effort you put toward achieving course goals. Yes, your colleagues and I will address the quality of your work. We will also expect you to put forward the substantial time and effort it takes to improve upon the quality of your work; that is, we will expect you to demonstrate significant growth and improvement in your reading and writing process over the course of the semester. But you will not be graded on the quality of a single piece of writing, nor will you be assessed using high-stakes testing methods. In short, the more you work, the better your grade—and the better you'll position yourself to learn and grow.

Absences

I will consider you “absent” if you are not physically present for a designated class meeting and you have not communicated with me about the circumstances. Please note that I will excuse absences for instances of sickness or hospitalization, including those for whom you are a caregiver; a death in the family; court-related issues; and religious holidays. You must communicate with me about these in advance when possible or when you return to class.

Incomplete, Missed, and Ignored Assignments

I will consider your assignments in this class “incomplete” if you submit them by a given deadline, but they fail to meet labor expectations (e.g., you didn't meet a minimum word count, you didn't provide required information, and so on). Your assignments will be “late” if you submit them within two days (48 hours) of an initial deadline. If you submit an assignment at any point in the semester after 48 hours of the initial deadline, I will consider it “missed.” If you do not submit an assignment at all, I will consider it “ignored.” Please note that I do not respond to “missed” assignments.

Open Revision Policy

I have an open revision policy. This means that you may revise and resubmit an “incomplete” or any other “graded assignment” for a higher grade. If you turn in a paper and you do not feel like it was your best work, you can request a meeting with me or come to office hours. I will give you suggestions for revision so that you can achieve the type of writing you are aiming for. We will agree on a timeframe for revisions and I will regrade your work after your revisions. NOTE: you cannot revise missed or ignored assignments.

Your Grade in Blackboard

I will assign your grade in blackboard as follows: Every task we undertake is worth 1pt. If you complete 100% of the tasks required of you, then you receive a 100%. If you complete 70% of the tasks required of you, then you receive a 70%

Final Grade

There is a column in blackboard to gives you your course average, this is an estimate of your grade. I will determine your final grade in the course by averaging your performance in each category of labor using a four-point scale. For example, if you earn an A in each category of labor, you will earn 4 points per category, equaling 20 points. Twenty-four points divided by 5 categories equals 4.0, which equals an A on a four-point scale.

Labor Journals

You will keep a weekly labor log. It can be in one of the following formats, written, voice recording, graphic, slide, or vlog.

It is DUE EVERY FRIDAY AT MIDNIGHT.

Your labor journal will contain the labor you are doing for the week, including the time you are spending on each task. It should include ALL LABOR. For example, you might spend 20 minutes reading a text for English class and 10 minutes talking about it with your friend. You would record both forms of labor. Maybe you spent 30 minutes surfing the internet looking for more information, record that as labor. Maybe you spent 2 hours writing Fan Fic about BTS after we read the Kpop article. Record that, because it is labor. If you have to care for others, siblings, parents, or children. Record that because it is labor. If you spend 2 hours cleaning your room so you didn't have to study, record it. It is labor. If you couldn't get to FYC work because you were swamped with Math and had to ask for an extension, record that, because it is labor. If you freaked about college, called home, then slept for 2 days before your friend came by to visit and you felt better, record that because it is labor! If you drove to El Paso to help your Tia move, so you didn't attend class all week and you had to talk to your teachers to get make-up work, record that because it was labor. I hope you are getting the idea. Record everything. I will respond to each of these.

The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the Title IX Coordinator. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and trained victim advocates) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. Pregnant/Parenting Students: Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide such reasonable accommodations to pregnant students as would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that are related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784-2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. The Title IX Coordinator can provide students with information regarding support services and other resources.

Students' Rights and Responsibilities: The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

Students' Rights

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.
4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university student rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.
3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

We expect that students will behave in a manner that is dignified, respectful, and courteous to all people, regardless of sex, ethnic/racial origin, religious background, sexual orientation, or disability. Conduct that infringes on the rights of another individual will not be tolerated.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student. Additionally, any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion may be considered as academic misconduct. For more information on academic misconduct policies and procedures please review the Student Code of Conduct (<https://www.tamusa.edu/university-policies/student-rights-and-responsibilities/documents/Student-Handbook-2022-23.pdf>) or visit the resources available in the OSRR website (<https://www.tamusa.edu/university-policies/student-rights-and-responsibilities/academic-integrity.html>).
