Course Description and Materials

Catalog Description: The course encompasses the study of limits, continuity, and derivatives of algebraic, trigonometric and transcendental functions and related applications to include maximizing or minimizing a function and rate of change problems. The course also introduces the definite integral, the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus and application to calculation of areas. Curve sketching and graphing tools will be utilized in exploring these concepts.

Math 2113 and Math 2313 help students develop Critical Thinking, Communication, and Empirical and Quantitative Skills by focusing on student understanding of the calculus concepts to include recognizing, identifying, solving, analyzing, and explaining, and appropriately modeling applicable real -world situations.

Prerequisite: Math 2312 Pre-Calculus with a grade of “C” or higher, or equivalent, or permission by the department.

Required eTextbook and Online Homework Platform: WebAssign for Stewart’s Essential Calculus: Early Transcendentals, 2nd Edition (ISBN: 9781337772198). Included in student fees. No purchase necessary.

Calculators: Basic scientific calculators (non-graphing, non-programmable) are permitted on quizzes and exams. A TI-30XIIS scientific calculator is highly recommended. Cell phones, graphing calculators, and online math utilities are not allowed on quizzes or exams. When appropriate, more advanced calculators and software may be used on homework assignments and during class discussion.

Student Learner Objectives: Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Develop solutions for tangent and area problems using the concepts of limits, derivatives, and integrals.
- Interpret and draw graphs of algebraic and transcendental functions considering limits, continuity, and differentiability at a point.
- Determine and explain whether a function is continuous and/or differentiable at a point using limits.
- Apply differentiation rules to differentiate algebraic and transcendental functions.
- Identify and apply appropriate calculus concepts and techniques to provide mathematical models of real-world situations, and to determine and explain solutions to applied problems.
- Evaluate definite integrals using the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus.
- Recognize and articulate the relationship between derivatives and integrals using the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus.

Grading Policy

The final course grade for MATH 2313 calculated as follows:

WebAssign Homework: 20%;	Quizzes/Other Assignments: 15%;
Exams: 45% (15% each);	Final Exam: 20%.

Course grades awarded as follows:

A: 90 ~ 100%; B: 80 ~ 89.9%; C: 70 ~ 79.9%; D: 60 ~ 69.9%; F: less than 59.9%.

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Final Grade} = & 20\% \times \text{avg of HW} + 15\% \times \text{avg of Quizzes} \\ & + 15\% \times (\text{Exam 1} + \text{Exam 2} + \text{Exam 3}) + 20\% \times \text{Final Exam} \end{aligned}$$

Homework: Homework will be completed online through WebAssign. All due dates are listed in WebAssign. One assignment score is dropped. Students are also encouraged to practice writing solutions and will be responsible for knowing how to write clear, justified solutions on quizzes and exams.

Quizzes/Other Assignments: Quizzes will be given weekly, beginning the second week of class. Your top five quiz scores will count toward your grade. There will be no make-up quizzes. Additionally, written assignments may be assigned as homework or classwork. These assignments are due when announced.

Midterm Exams: There will be three in-class exams during the semester. The tentative dates are

Test1: September 25

Test2: October 23

Test3: November 20

In case you miss an exam or find out that you will miss an exam, you should contact me either in person or by e-mail, at least one week in advance of the exam for non-emergency cases or within 24-hrs of the scheduled exam date for emergency cases. Any missed exam counts as a 0 unless the student has a valid documented excuse and contacts me as soon as possible after the excuse for missing the test arises. Examples of valid documented excuses are sickness documented with a doctor's note, death in the family documented with a copy of the death notice, attending university-sponsored events with a Dean's excuse, etc. Minor headaches or attending sports events (without Dean's excuse) are not examples of emergency situations.

Final Exam: In order to pass this class, students must take the final exam on Tuesday, December 9, 12:00 pm – 1:50 pm. The exam will cover topics from throughout the semester. Final exams cannot be rescheduled or missed (for dire and unforeseen medical or family emergencies, students must consult with me).

Class Policies and Expectations

The following policies and expectations have been established for this course to create a productive learning atmosphere for all students. Please bring any concerns you may have to my attention.

1. Students are expected to arrive and be ready to start class on time and stay for the entire class period. Please refrain from leaving during class or packing up belongings early. If you know ahead of time that you will need to leave class early, please inform me before class. If you need to leave suddenly during class, please follow up with me by email after class.
2. Students are expected to participate in discussions, in-class exercises, quizzes and problem presentations. During lectures, class discussions, or group discussions, students should give their attention to the speaker(s) and contribute to the conversation. Students can earn up to 5 points (added to exam scores) based on their level of participation.
3. The use of phones or other electronic devices for non-class related activities is not allowed. Students may use laptops or tablets for note-taking and may also use assistive technology and record, but not as a substitute for note-taking. If a student needs to remain in phone contact with others outside of the classroom due to an ongoing situation, please notify me in advance. In such circumstances, it may be better to be absent from class.
4. Please refrain from bringing food or drinks to class. If needed, water or small snacks are permitted as long as they are not a distraction (not noisy, fragrant, messy, etc.).

Students unable to follow these policies will be referred to the Dean of Students and/or asked to drop the class.

Any student receiving federal financial aid who does not attend by the census date will have their financial aid terminated and returned to the DoE. Please note that any student who stops attending at any time during the semester, a Care report will be submitted, and you will possibly be dropped from the class. Your financial aid may have to be recalculated and a portion of your federal aid may have to be returned to the DoE.

Religious Observances: Texas A&M University-San Antonio recognizes the diversity of faiths represented among the campus community and protects the rights of students, faculty, and staff to observe religious holidays according to their tradition. Under the policy, students are provided an opportunity to make up any examination, study, or course work requirements that may be missed due to a religious observance provided they notify their instructors before the end of the second week of classes for regular session classes.

The Six-Drop Rule: Students are subject to the requirements of Senate Bill (SB) 1231 passed by the Texas Legislature in 2007. SB 1231 limits students to a maximum of six (6) non-punitive course drops (i.e., courses a student chooses to drop) during their undergraduate careers. A non-punitive drop does not affect the student's GPA. However, course drops that exceed the maximum allowed by SB 1231 will be treated as "F" grades and will impact the student's GPA.

Statement of Harassment and Discrimination: Texas A&M University-San Antonio is committed to the fundamental principles of academic freedom, equal opportunity, and human dignity. To fulfill its multiple missions as an institution of higher learning, A&M-San Antonio encourages a climate that values and nurtures collegiality and the uniqueness of the individual within our state, nation, and world. All decisions and actions involving students and employees should be based on applicable law and individual merit. Texas A&M University-San Antonio, in accordance with applicable federal and state law, prohibits discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, or pregnancy/parenting status. Individuals who believe they have experienced harassment or discrimination prohibited by this statement are encouraged to contact the appropriate offices within their respective units.

Texas A&M University-San Antonio faculty are committed to providing a safe learning environment for all students and for the university as a whole. If you have experienced any form of sex- or gender-based discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic or dating violence, or stalking, know that help and support are available. A&M-San Antonio's Title IX Coordinator can support those impacted by such conduct in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, and more. The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the Title IX Coordinator. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and trained victim advocates) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. This means that if you tell a faculty member about a situation of sexual harassment, sexual violence, or other related misconduct, the faculty member must share that information with the university's Title IX Coordinator (titleix@tamusa.edu, 210-784-2061, CAB 439K). If you wish to speak to a confidential employee who does not have this reporting requirement, you can contact the Student Counseling Center at (210) 784-1331 or visit them in Madla 120.

Pregnant/Parenting Students: Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide such reasonable accommodations to pregnant students as would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that are related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784-2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. The Title IX Coordinator can provide students with information regarding support services and other resources.

Students' Rights and Responsibilities: The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.

We expect that students will behave in a manner that is dignified, respectful, and courteous to all people, regardless of sex, ethnic/racial origin, religious background, sexual orientation, or disability. Conduct that infringes on the rights of another individual will not be tolerated.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student. Additionally, any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion may be considered as academic misconduct. For more information on academic misconduct policies and procedures please review the Student Code of Conduct
