

BIOL 3104 — Research Experience in Biology (1 Credit)

Texas A&M University—San Antonio
Fall 2026

Course Description

Research Experience in Biology is aimed at providing an introductory research experience in a biology faculty laboratory. Through this experience the student will gain an understanding of how research is conducted outside of a classroom and how the scientific method is actively applied in the specific discipline of the faculty research interests. Students will become part of the research team and will participate in laboratory or field activities as well as meetings/discussions.

Credits: 1 (1-0-0). This course may be repeated once, for a maximum of 2 credits; the second must be under a different faculty member and thus a different discipline in Biology. It may also be taken as zero-credit during the summer to maintain enrollment for compliance.

Prerequisites: BIOL 1306, BIOL 1106, BIOL 1307, and BIOL 1107.

Restrictions: Graduate-level students may not enroll. TSI restrictions: Reading, Math, and Writing.

Note: This course is recommended to be taken before BIOL 4304: Undergraduate Research in Biology.

Meeting Times

BIOL 3104 is not a traditional lecture-style course. The student is expected to attend a standing weekly laboratory meeting. The time and place of research participation will be determined through coordination with the researcher with whom the student is paired.

Course Overview

Students enrolled in BIOL 3104 will gain introductory research experience as members of The Smart Lab by assisting the PI and/or graduate students in their ongoing research. Students are expected to attend the weekly laboratory meeting and spend at least three hours per week working in the laboratory or field alongside a graduate student or the PI. The emphasis is on learning how an active research program operates — core techniques, laboratory safety and practice, record keeping, and how questions become experiments — rather than on running an independent project of your own.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Working as part of a research team to perform biological research.
2. Learning and applying core laboratory and/or field techniques used in the discipline.
3. Data collection and management, including accurate and consistent record keeping.
4. Understanding how the scientific method is applied within an active research program.

- Communicating research progress and discussing primary literature in weekly laboratory meetings.

Grading Policy

Grades will be assigned based upon attendance and contribution in meetings and weekly research participation. Students start out with full credit (100%) and every two missed laboratory meetings or research sessions without prior coordination with the PI and the researcher they are assisting will result in a reduction of one letter grade (–10%).

SB 1231 limits students to a maximum of six (6) non-punitive course drops (i.e., courses a student chooses to drop) during their undergraduate careers. A non-punitive drop does not affect the student's GPA. However, course drops that exceed the maximum allowed by SB 1231 will be treated as "F" grades and will impact the student's GPA.

Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide such reasonable accommodations to pregnant students as would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that are related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784-2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. Students' Rights and Responsibilities

The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

Students' Rights

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.
4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university student rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.
3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

We expect that students will behave in a manner that is dignified, respectful, and courteous to all people, regardless of sex, ethnic/racial origin, religious background, or disability. Conduct that infringes on the rights of another individual will not be tolerated.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student. Additionally, any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion may be considered as academic misconduct.
