1. Midterm Exam: Students will complete an online exam of about 40 questions in length. Questions will vary between multiple choice, true/false, and short written responses (a paragraph or so will suffice to answer these). The exam will be open on Blackboard and students will have 2 days to complete it and submit it via Blackboard during whichever 90-minute time interval they so choose to complete the exam during those 2 days. The exam will be virtual via Blackboard, open-notes and open-book. However, students are not allowed to collaborate or work with each other on the exam. Students will have one attempt to complete it – once a student opens the exam on Blackboard the clock will start ticking and that will be their only opportunity to complete the exam.

2. Final Exam: Students will complete an online exam of about 40 questions in length. The exam will be open on Blackboard and students will have 2 days to complete it and submit it via Blackboard during whichever 90-minute time interval they so choose to complete the exam during those 2 days. The exam will be virtual via Blackboard, open-notes and open-book. However, students are not allowed to collaborate or work with each other on the exam. Assignments will vary from short research tasks, to asking students to fill out a handout or review sheet, or a reflection or short response task. Students should complete the assignment after watching the video lectures for the week.

Email Policy

When you email me, please expect a reply in around 72 hours, and responses may be delayed further over the weekend. This is because of conflicting obligations with family, research, and hobbies. Thus, important questions regarding assignments should be asked well ahead of time because if asked very close to the due date and time – you may not hear from me until after the assignment is due. Emailing me to notify me of an emergency is, of course, a valid matter.

Blackboard Policy

Please check Blackboard regularly for course updates, assignment announcements, or possible lecture cancellations. I will notify you in advance during class of upcoming assignments – but it is a good habit to check Blackboard regularly.
