In this class, we will follow the story of the United States as it rebuilt after Reconstruction, experienced rapid industrial growth, welcomed waves of immigrants, and expanded its influence across the globe. Using The American Yawp, we will look at major historical moments such as the rise of big business, the Progressive Era, the World Wars, the Great Depression, the Cold War, and the Civil Rights Movement. Just as importantly, we will explore how ordinary people shaped history through their actions and choices.

This is not a class focused on memorizing dates and names alone. Instead, we will practice thinking like historians: asking questions, examining evidence, considering different perspectives, and making connections between the past and the present.

You should leave this course with a better understanding of how historical events shaped modern American society and with stronger skills in critical thinking, discussion, and analyzing information. These skills are useful far beyond a history classroom.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Create a thesis argument through the use of historical evidence.
2. Analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources.
3. Analyze the effects of historical, social, political, economic, cultural, and global forces on this period of United States history.
4. Develop analytical writing skills

Classroom Policies

Participation/Attendance Policy: You must be present in order to succeed in this course. This means faithful, punctual attendance.

Discussion Board: These will take place online via Blackboard. For each of these posts, you will respond to the question that I pose and then respond to 2 other students to receive full credit.

Reflection Papers: You will write three, 2–3-page reflection papers covering topics that the instructor assigns. Papers will need to be double-spaced and 12-point font. Once the topic and topic question are given, you can utilize the WLDD Center to help you work on flow of paper. Your opinion matters and it is acceptable to use "I" in reflection papers in my class.

Quizzes: You will be completing 4 quizzes online via Blackboard. The quiz will be open for 1 week and is posted in your syllabus. Once you start the quiz on Blackboard, it will be timed, and the clock will begin then.

Civility Code: We will participate in discussions that occasionally touch on controversial issues. Therefore, it is important that we show respect for each other in the tone and content of our comments. You should strive to treat your classmates not only the way you would like to be treated (the Golden Rule), but the way they would like to be treated (the Platinum Rule).

Make-Up Policy: My policy on make-up of work will be fluid due to the circumstances of life. I will work with every student in the class to make this experience positive. Please make sure to communicate with me often so that we can put a solid plan in place if there are unforeseen circumstances.

Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
