Academic Sources

On campus, the university library is the best place to start looking for sources for any academic subject. Academic sources are scholarly books, articles, and research papers that are typically peer-reviewed, credible and authoritative. Peer-reviewed sources are written by an expert in the field and have passed review by other experts who judged the source for quality and accuracy. If a source is peer-reviewed, there's a really good chance it's a good choice for high-quality, accurate information. For these assignments, please avoid using websites like Britannica, Wikipedia, IMDb, etc.

Below I will list Zoom screen share instructions for those unfamiliar. Your TAMUSA credentials should allow you to access Zoom for screen share recording. The screen share recording of your presentation can be through any app, it doesn't have to be through Zoom. Keep in mind where you are saving your finished meeting video on your computer before starting to record.

1. Open Zoom App.
2. Start new meeting.
3. Select "Share" icon at bottom of screen (In Green).
4. Then click the small box for "Share Sound".
5. Then click "Share" (in Blue).
6. Click the "More" Icon (...)
7. Select "Record" It's recommended to "Record to this computer".
8. When finished recording, END meeting.
9. Locate Zoom. mp4 video file.
10. Upload video file to YouTube as unlisted (recommended).
11. When you are ready to submit on Blackboard, go to the Final Exam discussion board and click "post a response to the discussion". In the upper toolbar, click the (+) (add content) tab on the upper right corner, then click embed media. You then should copy/paste the URL for your unlisted video, and it should appear for us to see.

Doing this will allow others to conveniently view your video from Blackboard without having to be sent to YouTube. Other screen share alternatives include apple screen recording tools, QuickTime, Loom, etc. It is recommended to test that your audio sharing works before recording your full presentation.

Late Work

- * Each week's assignments will be open every Monday @ 12:00am and close Sunday @ 11:59pm which gives students a full 7 days to complete each week's assignments.
- * Late work will be accepted for a max grade of 70%.
- * The last day to submit assignments will be posted at the end of the course calendar. Submissions of any kind after this date/time will not be accepted. Students that have proper documentation through the university may request extensions.

Broader Use of Generative AI Permitted Within Guidelines

Use of artificial intelligence (AI) tools, including ChatGPT is permitted in this course for students who wish to use them on the ground of initial research. Students should not use AI tools to complete listening journals or Connect reading assignments. To adhere to our scholarly values, students may however, cite AI generated material that informed their Final Exam presentation research work. This includes intake, citations, and or use of quotations and in your reference list. Using an AI to generate content without proper attribution qualifies as academic dishonesty and violates Texas A&M, San Antonio standard of academic integrity.
