Course Description:

This course teaches fundamentals of scientific writing in psychology, including literature reviews, research reports, and other forms of written communication in the field. All work products will adhere to the American Psychological Association (APA) format and style. Students will gain extensive experience in writing, revision, and editing. The goal of the course is to promote proficiency of writing and critical thinking skills through analysis of exemplary writing and evaluation of their own and others' writing. TSI Restriction(s): Reading, Math, and Writing

Prerequisites: PSYC 2301, PSYC 2302, ENGL 1301, and ENGL 1302 or ENGL 2311 must be completed first.

Restrictions: Enrollment is limited to Undergraduate level students.

Required Course Materials:

Handbook: American Psychological Association. (2019). Publication manual (7th ed). Washington, DC.

Contact Guidelines:

Email: Only use official university e-mail through Blackboard and include the course and section (e.g., PSYC 2385) and full name in the subject line. Please do not use Blackboard messages. My university email is my primary and preferred point of contact outside of the classroom.

I check my email regularly on Monday – Friday from 8 to 5. Within that timeframe, I will generally respond within 24 hours. If you do not hear back from me, email again in the event your message went to my Junk email box and/or follow up directly with me in class or during office hours (see above). On the weekends, I am generally not available by email but will reply on the subsequent Monday. If you need to contact me, please plan ahead.

In all communications, please be professional and be specific in your message (i.e., avoid informal correspondence styles like text messaging). Your correspondence MUST include the information specified above. If you send an email without sufficient information, I likely will not reply or may reply asking for clarification about your inquiry (this can result in an unnecessary delay). Please begin a new email thread in lieu of responding back to one of my emails if you are beginning a new conversation unrelated to the previous email (this helps minimize confusion caused by chain replies).

Student Hours: I will be available in my office (STEM 237C) to meet during student hours (see times listed above). Student hours are dedicated to interacting with and providing students with assistance regarding coursework. An appointment is not necessary to attend these hours, but interactions are limited to a first-come, first-served basis. If there is a specific assignment/materials, or topic you want to discuss, providing advance notice will allow me to have these resources ready. If students cannot meet during these times, an alternative time can be requested via email, and I will do my best to try to accommodate students accordingly.

Assessment and Evaluation:

All assignments, except for in-class work, will be administered from and turned into Blackboard. No paper copies will be accepted unless otherwise noted. Late work will not be accepted without a university-approved excuse and/or advance notice with instructor approval. Additionally, you are expected to complete all work independently (see Academic Integrity section for more details on independent work).

The following descriptions are intentionally brief. A fuller and complete set of instructions will be available in class and through Blackboard throughout the semester. Furthermore, each assignment will have a specific set of instructions that students will be required to follow. For longer writing assignments, there will be specific rubrics provided that will be used to determine the grade students earn on these assignments.

Attendance & Participation – 50 points each

An important aspect of this writing class is developing good writing skills, establishing healthy writing habits, and acquiring knowledge about APA communication standards and practices. To achieve these goals, students NEED to be in class! This class is in-person, so students need to plan to attend in-person (i.e., there will not be any online attendance options). Throughout the semester, various writing assignments will build upon prior submissions and understanding how these elements are connected can be very difficult when students are consistently late, leave early, and/or miss class.

Throughout the semester, students are required to attend and contribute to all regularly scheduled class meetings. To ensure compliance, attendance will be taken daily via a combination of roll-call and/or in-class activities, and students will submit as evidence of attendance. Attendance and participation expectations include:

- a) being on time / staying for the duration of class unless given permission otherwise
- b) bring your APA manual to class daily and/or any other requested materials
- c) refraining from excessive use of cell phones during lecture time for non-class-related reasons
- d) being engaged during class discussions, activities, and answering questions when called upon (sleeping during class does not constitute “being in attendance”)
- e) assisting peers with reviewing their work (peer-review) and/or collaborating when instructed

Students are permitted to miss up to two classes without penalty. Beginning on the 3rd absence, students will receive a 3-point penalty for each subsequent absence. Excuse absences will not count against these totals, but students will need to provide documentation and/or receive instructor approval. Your instructor reserves the right to decide whether something qualifies as an excused absence. If students are unsure of whether something qualifies as an excused absence, they should communicate in a timely manner with their instructor.

In the event of an unexpected, but extended absence, students will need to communicate with their instructors to determine the appropriate course of action. Your instructor will do their best to work with students to establish appropriate accommodation in such instances.

Scientific Communication, Organization, and Planning Exercises (SCOPE) – 20 points each

There will be several weeks where students will practice their scientific communication, organization, and planning skills with SCOPE. Students must attend class to be eligible to earn points on these assignments. Without a university-approved excuse, no make-up for SCOPE assignments will be accepted. These assignments will help develop and reinforce important skills related to the term paper in this course (see below).

Writing Appointments – 40 points each

As per course requirements, there are two occasions when students will individually meet with their instructor to discuss their term paper (see syllabus calendar). These appointments are mandatory and will be held in my office or via Zoom (depending on students' preferences). During these individual meetings, students will have an opportunity to discuss various aspects related to their research topic and receive expert feedback and guidance from their instructor. For these meetings to be successful, students will need to be organized, arrive promptly on time, and have their various writing documents open/accessible, including their APA manual. If students are using an electronic device, make sure it is fully charged and connected to the university Wi-Fi before arrival. Additionally, students are strongly encouraged to have specific questions prepared to ask and should take notes during these meetings to serve as helpful reminders when writing later.

Review Assignments – 30 points each

Writing is a practice-driven craft. As a wise person once said, "There are no great writers and very few great rewriters." (Tracy Henley, personal communication). These review assignments will let us practice and share what we know before creating a final product.

Note: To be eligible to participate in these review assignments, students will need to submit the prerequisite assignment (i.e., annotated bibliography, writing assignment #1, and/or writing assignment #2). This requirement means that if students fail to submit the required assignment when instructed (see course syllabus), then they will also forfeit points on these review assignments too! Basically, you cannot review if you do not have something of your own to be reviewed!

Annotated Bibliography – 100 points

Students will practice creating an APA-style annotated bibliography. This assignment is essential in learning how to critique and summarize literature, create APA-style references, and develop critical thinking skills.

Writing Assignments – 100 points each

Writing assignments serve as assessments of writing skills across the semester. These exercises include summaries of literature review and empirical articles, which will serve as additional means for instructor and peer feedback in route to the creation of the term paper.

APA Mastery Exam – 100 points

After we cover the APA Manual, students will take an at-home, online test on Blackboard to assess their understanding and application of its principles. More details will be provided before finals week.

Final Paper – 200 points

The writing assignments all contribute to a final paper. This paper will include no fewer than 10 peer-reviewed sources on a topic of the students' choosing (options to be discussed in detail in class). To be eligible to earn points for this final paper, students must adhere to the instructions for writing assignments that contribute to this final work.

Missed / Late Homework Policy

Missed assignments will be assigned a grade of zero. You must email me about a missed assignment before the due date or as soon as possible after the emergency that causes you to miss the deadline. You will not be allowed to earn credit for late assignments and will receive a zero for that assignment unless you experience an emergency/illness. Excused absences include family emergencies and death in the family. Work conflicts or difficulty with parking do not count as legitimate reasons.

Legitimate reasons include, but are not limited to:

- Illness and/or injury (personal)
- Illness of a friend or family member that requires your assistance
- Transportation
- Athletic and/or organizational obligation

SB 1231 limits students to a maximum of six (6) non-punitive course drops (i.e., courses a student chooses to drop) during their undergraduate careers. A non-punitive drop does not affect the student's GPA. However, course drops that exceed the maximum allowed by SB 1231 will be treated as "F" grades and will impact the student's GPA.

Individuals who believe they have experienced harassment or discrimination prohibited by this statement are encouraged to contact the University's Civil Rights Officer at 210-784-2061 or titleix@tamusa.edu.

Texas A&M University-San Antonio faculty are committed to providing a safe learning environment for all students and for the university as a whole. If you have experienced any form of sex discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic or dating violence, or stalking based on sex, know that help and support are available. A&M-San Antonio's Title IX Coordinator can support those impacted by such conduct in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, and more. The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the Title IX Coordinator. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and trained victim advocates) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. This means that if you tell a faculty member about a situation of sexual harassment, sexual violence, or other related sex-based misconduct, the faculty member must share that information with the university's Title IX Coordinator (titleix@tamusa.edu, 210-784-2061, CAB 439K). If you wish to speak to a confidential employee who does not have this reporting requirement, you can contact the Student Counseling Center at (210) 784-1331 or visit them in Madla 120.

Pregnant/Parenting Students: Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide such reasonable accommodations to pregnant students as would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that are related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784-2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. The Title IX Coordinator can provide students with information regarding support services and other resources.

Young Jaguars can support parenting students with daycare if students meet this criteria: (1) must be enrolled in classes at Texas A&M-San Antonio in the current semester, (2) must be Pell eligible or a single parent, (3) child(ren) must be aged 3 to 12-years-old, and (4) child(ren) must be enrolled in Pre-K-3 through 6th grade. Students' Rights and Responsibilities: The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

Students' Rights

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.
4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university student rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.
3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

We expect that students will behave in a manner that is dignified, respectful, and courteous to all people, regardless of sex, ethnic/racial origin, religious background, or disability. Conduct that infringes on the rights of another individual will not be tolerated.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student. Additionally, any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion may be considered as academic misconduct. For more information on academic misconduct policies and procedures please review the Student Code of Conduct or visit the resources available in the OSRR website
