Introduction to Political Science

DESCRIPTION

Through our work in this course, the students will become familiar with the world of politics, both as a field of practice and as an academic field of study. They will acquire the basic concepts and theories of the four major subfields of political science (political philosophy, comparative politics, American government, international relations), through an investigation of politics in action, as it developed through history. We will do all this, while pursuing two key questions: What is politics? What is a good regime?

We will start with an examination of the nature and goals of politics, by looking at some key political thinkers, from Plato to Augustine, from Machiavelli to Locke. We will then discuss the basic assumptions and institutions of modern politics, by discussing the rise of the modern nation-state and of the liberal democratic model.

Then, we will survey the main types of democratic political systems, through the case studies of the UK, France, Germany, and the US. We will look at the process of policy making and implementation, by studying how the legislature, executive, administration and judiciary are set up and function in a modern state.

Thereafter we will try to understand the various ways in which the citizen can participate in politics; this module will include an examination of elections and electoral systems. The development of the modern political ideologies, and the palette of political parties available currently in various states, will constitute another set of topics studied in this section.

After discussing the liberal democratic model, we will look at some “other” models of political regimes - from authoritarian to totalitarian - using the case studies of Iran and China.

We will then move to a different level of analysis and will discuss international politics,

SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

first by reviewing the basic assumptions of the field, and then by looking at the ways in which the actions of various international actors are shaped by international norms, laws, organizations and regimes. We will take a closer look at some important international organizations, such as NATO, the UN, and the EU. Finally, we will look at the phenomenon of globalization, and at the challenges facing the developing world.

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

By the end of the semester the students will acquire the main vocabulary of politics and of political science. They will become acquainted with the main themes and approaches within the subfields of political philosophy, comparative politics, American government and international relations. By the end of the course, the students should be able to make sense of any newspaper article dealing with political events, domestic or international, using the tools of political science. Finally, they should become more interested, and even invested, in the world of politics.

COURSE WORK

We will meet in the classroom every Tuesday and Thursday, with the exceptions noted in TAMUSA's academic calendar. Attendance is mandatory, as the most important teaching and learning tool in this course is represented by the class lectures. This means that you can only succeed in this class if you attend every class, pay close attention, and take thorough and accurate lecture notes.

Attendance will be taken at the beginning of the class. In order to be marked present, a student needs to be present when attendance is taken, and to remain present throughout the class period. Except for certified emergencies, leaving the classroom for an extended time, or before the end of our class meeting, will result in being marked absent, and will also be qualified as disruptive behavior.

You are expected to actively participate in our common classroom work (classroom discussions). Student participation is evaluated on an ongoing basis and is graded separately. Together, attendance and participation will make up the A&P (Attendance & Participation)

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY
SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

portion of the final grade.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Other activities and forms of evaluation, such as online assignments, classroom pop-quizzes, attending campus events, completing surveys, pursuing field trips etc. might also be part of the activities pursued during the semester, if and as such opportunities become available. Some of these activities might yield points counting toward various grade components. More specific information will be provided as necessary.

CLASS CANCELLATION

If a class needs to be cancelled due to unexpected circumstances, we will do our best to make up for it, if need be, through online activities and graded assignments, which will count toward the A&P grade.

COMMUNICATION

All email communication in this class will take place exclusively through Blackboard messaging. The normal reply period during regular business days is 24 hours. This does not apply to weekends (Sat-Sun), or other non-business days, when such communication will not be checked.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

All forms of academic dishonesty (cheating, plagiarism etc.) will be addressed promptly and with severity. The use of AI tools to complete any assignments in this course is forbidden. For all assignments and evaluations, students are expected to follow carefully the written and oral instructions received from the instructor.

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY
SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

ACADEMIC DISCIPLINE

Whenever and wherever we meet, in the classroom or online, you are expected to be a polite, respectful and active member of our learning community. Positive participation is encouraged, and will contribute to a better grade. Disruptive behavior will not be tolerated, and will result in one or more of the disciplinary measures listed below, starting with expulsion from the given class meeting.

NOTE-TAKING TOOLS

In our classroom, the use of any electronic device (laptop, smartphone, headphones etc.) is forbidden, and is considered a disciplinary infraction, that will lead to disciplinary measures. Come prepared to take notes using pen and paper.

DISCIPLINARY MEASURES

Failure to comply with any of the instructions given by the instructor in the syllabus, in class, or through Blackboard, or contained in the official TAMUSA policies, will result in one or more of the following disciplinary measures: expulsion from the given class; zero points (F) for the given assignment; deduction of points from, or an F for, the final grade component (e.g. Attendance & Participation); an F for the entire course; reporting to the disciplinary bodies of the university; expulsion from the course roster; reporting to University Police etc. The implementation of these and other disciplinary measures is at the discretion of the instructor.

EXAMINATIONS & GRADING

Our work this semester is organized into five modules, each of them about three weeks in length, and each of them dealing with a given set of topics:

- M1: Foundations of Political Thought
- M2: Emergence of Modernity
- M3: Liberal Democracies
- M4: Non-Democratic Regimes
- M5: International Relations

Department of Criminology and Political Science

After each module there will be a test covering the material discussed in that module (five tests in total). There is no final cumulative test, which means that you will have the opportunity to perform equally well in each module, and on each test. This also means that you have to maintain the same level of effort and investment in our common work throughout the semester (in each module).

GRADING

The main components of the final grade are as follows:

- Test 1 (Foundations of Political Thought): 16.5%
- Test 2 (Emergence of Modernity): 16.5%
- Test 3 (Liberal Democracies): 16.5%
- Test 4 (Non-Democratic Regimes): 16.5%
- Test 5 (International Relations): 16.5%
- Attendance & Participation: 17.5%

Each of these final grade components will receive a letter grade. Note that for these component grades we will use the traditional letter grading scale (with minus and plus), on a four-point scale, as follows:

A=4.0; A-=3.7; B+=3.3; B=3.0; B-=2.7; C+=2.3; C=2.0; C-=1.7; D+=1.3; D=1.0; D-=0.7.

In order to calculate the final grade, you will have to use the numeric equivalents of the letter grade for each component, according to the formula listed below:

*Final Grade = T1*16.5% + T2*16.5% + T3*16.5% + T4*16.5% + T5*16.5% + AP*17.5%.*

Remember however that, as prescribed by the official policies of Texas A&M University - San Antonio, the official final grade for the course will be expressed and recorded in the TAMUSA system as a full letter grade (A, B, C, D, or F).

SUPPORT FOR STUDENTS

Texas A&M University – San Antonio has a wide range of services dedicated to student success and well-being. These resources are listed and described in detail in the IMPORTANT UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND RESOURCES section of this syllabus (below). Know how these resources can assist you, and do not be reluctant to use them; remember, your mental and physical health should always be your first concern!

If you are registered with DSS and need specific arrangements either in terms of the class work or for test taking, please make sure to inform the instructor ahead of time.

Overall, make sure to maintain a constant channel of communication with the instructor, and to let him know as early as possible if issues or problems occur that might have a negative impact on your attendance or work in this class.

STUDY MATERIALS

The study / learning materials that we will use for our classroom work are the following (in order of importance):

- class lecture notes
- textbook readings
- Blackboard materials.

Lecture notes: This is the most important teaching and learning tool in this class, so make sure that you attend each class, and that you take precise and detailed lecture notes. In this sense, it is a good idea to periodically exchange class notes with your colleagues, to make sure that you have the most comprehensive and precise information at hand.

Textbooks: The specific sections from the textbooks that need to be read and prepared will be announced in the weekly work plans.

- Mark Kesselman, Joel Krieger, William A. Joseph, Colin Brown, Kelly Bauer. Introduction to Comparative Politics: Political Challenges and Changing Agendas. 9th Edition.
- Jon C. Pevehouse, Joshua S. Goldstein, Sarah E. Kreps, Edward D. Mansfield. International Relations. 13th edition. Pearson, 2024.
- Select textbook readings posted on Blackboard.

Blackboard materials: Additional study materials will be posted on Blackboard on an ongoing basis. All materials posted on Blackboard constitute mandatory study and examination materials.

PLANNING YOUR WORK

SYLLABUS SCHEDULE

The general schedule posted below is for orientation purposes only. In actuality, the pacing and rhythm of any class is shaped by our common work, and each learning community has a different pace of work. Accordingly, the schedule included below might be modified, adjusted, updated and improved, as necessary, to better reflect the actual pace of work of our particular learning community, and to accomplish the goals of the course. All such changes are at the discretion of the instructor.

WEEKLY WORK PLAN

This is why your actual planning tool in this course is represented by the Weekly Work Plan that is posted before each week, which contains the up-to-date information regarding what we will discuss that week, for every class; the readings that you need to complete for that week; announcements regarding upcoming tests, or other evaluations or events; as well as other important information regarding our work in this course. Make sure therefore to consult the Weekly Work Plan before each week, and to plan your work accordingly.

IMPORTANT POLICIES AND RESOURCES

University Email Policy and Course Communications

All correspondence between professors and students must occur via the university communications systems. Note that in this course we will exclusively use the Blackboard mailing system for all communications.

Make sure therefore that you have your TAMUSA accounts (Jaguar email account and Blackboard messaging system) ready and working. If it is not working, contact the help desk at helpdesk@tamusa.edu or at 210-784-HELP (4357). If you don't hear back within 48 hours, contact them again. They have many requests during the first part of the semester, so you may need to follow up with them.

Academic Accommodations for Individuals with Disabilities

Texas A&M University-San Antonio is committed to providing all students with reasonable access to learning opportunities and accommodations in accordance with The Americans with Disabilities Act, as amended, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. If you experience barriers to your education due to a disability or think you may have a disability, Disability Support Services is located in the Central Academic Building, Suite 210. You can also contact us via phone at (210) 784-1335, visit us at the website or email us at dss@tamusa.edu. All students are encouraged to discuss their academic accommodation with Disability Support Services and their instructors as soon as possible.

Academic Learning Center

All currently enrolled students at Texas A&M University-San Antonio can utilize the Academic Learning Center for subject-area tutoring. The Academic Learning Center provides free course-based tutoring to all currently enrolled students at Texas A&M University-San Antonio. Students wishing to work with a tutor can make appointments through the Brainfuse online tutoring platform. Brainfuse can be accessed in the Tools section of Blackboard. You can

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY
SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

contact the Academic Learning Center by emailing tutoring@tamusa.edu, calling (210) 784-1307, or visiting the Central Academic Building, room 202. Online tutoring is also available for after hours and weekend assistance.

While tutoring hours may change based on tutor schedules and availability, the current tutoring hours for MATH in the ALC are as follows:

Emergency Preparedness:

JagE Alert is Texas A&M University-San Antonio's mass notification system. In the event of an emergency, such as inclement weather, students, staff and faculty, who are registered, will have the option to receive a text message, email with instructions and updates. To register or update your information visit: <https://tamusa.bbcportal.com/>. More information on emergency response may be found at: Emergency Operations Plan and the Emergency Action Plan. Download the SafeZone App (<https://safezoneapp.com/>) for emergencies or call (210) 784-1911. Non-Emergency (210) 784-1900.

Financial Aid and Verification of Attendance

According to the following federal regulation, 34 CFR 668.21: U.S. Department of Education (DoE) Title IV regulation, a student can only receive Title IV funds based on Title IV eligibility criteria which include class attendance. If Title IV funds are disbursed to ineligible students (including students who fail to begin attendance), the institution must return these funds to the U.S. DoE within 30 days of becoming aware that the student will not or has not begun attendance. Faculty will provide the Office of Financial Aid with an electronic notification if a student has not attended by the published Census Date (the first week of class). Any student receiving federal financial aid who does not attend prior to the published Census Date (the first week of class) will have their aid terminated and returned to the DoE. Please note that any student who stops attending at any time during the semester may also need to return a portion of their federal aid.

Jaguar Writing, Language, and Digital Composing Center (WLDCC)

The WLDCC provides support to graduate and undergraduate students in all three colleges as well as faculty and staff. Writing tutors work with students to develop reading skills, prepare oral presentations, and plan, draft, and revise their written assignments. Our language tutors support students enrolled in Spanish courses and students composing in Spanish for any assignment. Our digital studio tutors support students working on digital projects such as e-portfolios, class presentations, or other digital multimedia projects. The WLDCC offers face-to-face, synchronous online, and asynchronous digital appointments. Students can schedule appointments with the WLDCC in JagWire under the Student Services tab. Click on “Writing, Language, and Digital Composing Center” to make your appointment. Students wanting to work in real time with a tutor can schedule an “Online Appointment.” Students wishing to receive asynchronous, written feedback from a tutor can schedule an “eTutoring” appointment. More information about what services we offer, how to make an appointment, and how to access your appointment can be found on our website. The WLDCC can also be reached by emailing wldcc@tamusa.edu.

Meeting Basic Needs

Any student who has difficulty affording groceries or accessing sufficient food to eat every day or who lacks a safe and stable place to live, and believes this may affect their performance in the course, is urged to submit a CARE report for support. Furthermore, please notify the professor if you are comfortable in doing so. This will enable them to direct you to available resources. A food pantry is available on campus; click here for hours and contact.

Military Affairs

Veterans and active-duty military personnel are welcomed and encouraged to visit the Office of Military Affairs for any question involving federal or state VA Education Benefits. Visit the Patriots’ Casa building, room 202, or to contact the Office of Military Affairs with any questions at military.va@tamusa.edu or (210)784-1397.

Religious Observances

Texas A&M University-San Antonio recognizes the wide variety of faiths represented

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY
SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

among the campus community and protects the rights of students, faculty, and staff to observe religious holidays according to their tradition. Under the policy, students are provided an opportunity to make up any examination, study, or course work requirements that may be missed due to a religious observance provided they notify their instructors before the end of the second week of classes for regular session classes.

The Six-Drop Rule

Students are subject to the requirements of Senate Bill (SB) 1231 passed by the Texas Legislature in 2007. SB 1231 limits students to a maximum of six (6) non-punitive course drops (i.e., courses a student chooses to drop) during their undergraduate careers. A non-punitive drop does not affect the student's GPA. However, course drops that exceed the maximum allowed by SB 1231 will be treated as "F" grades and will impact the student's GPA.

Statement of Harassment and Discrimination

Texas A&M University-San Antonio is committed to the fundamental principles of academic freedom, equal opportunity, and human dignity. To fulfill its multiple missions as an institution of higher learning, A&M-San Antonio encourages a climate that values and nurtures collegiality and the uniqueness of the individual on our campus and within our state, nation, and world. All decisions and actions involving students and employees are to be based on applicable law and individual merit. Texas A&M University-San Antonio, in accordance with applicable federal and state law, prohibits discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or pregnancy/parenting status. Individuals who believe they have experienced harassment or discrimination prohibited by this statement are encouraged to contact the University's Civil Rights Officer at 210-784-2061 or titleix@tamusa.edu.

Texas A&M University-San Antonio faculty are committed to providing a safe learning environment for all students and for the university as a whole. If you have experienced any form of sex discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic or dating violence, or stalking based on sex, know that help and support are available. A&M-San

SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

Antonio's Title IX Coordinator can support those impacted by such conduct in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, and more. The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the Title IX Coordinator. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and trained victim advocates) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. This means that if you tell a faculty member about a situation of sexual harassment, sexual violence, or other related sex-based misconduct, the faculty member must share that information with the university's Title IX Coordinator (titleix@tamusa.edu, 210-784-2061, CAB 439K). If you wish to speak to a confidential employee who does not have this reporting requirement, you can contact the Student Counseling Center at (210) 784-1331 or visit them in Madla 120.

Pregnant/Parenting Students

Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide such reasonable accommodations to pregnant students as would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that are related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784-2061; CAB 439K).

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY SAN ANTONIO

Department of Criminology and Political Science

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. The Title IX Coordinator can provide students with information regarding support services and other resources.

Young Jaguars

The young Jaguars program can support parenting students with daycare if students meet this criteria: (1) must be enrolled in classes at Texas A&M-San Antonio in the current semester, (2) must be Pell eligible or a single parent, (3) child(ren) must be aged 3 to 12-years-old, and (4) child(ren) must be enrolled in Pre-K-3 through 6th grade. Hours of operation is Monday-Thursday 3:30pm-9:00pm. For more information, please contact Young Jaguars at youngjaguars@tamusa.edu or call (210) 784-2636.

Students' Rights and Responsibilities

The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

STUDENTS' RIGHTS

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.

Department of Criminology and Political Science

4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university student rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

STUDENTS' RESPONSIBILITIES

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.
3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

We expect that students will behave in a manner that is dignified, respectful, and courteous to all people, regardless of sex, ethnic/racial origin, religious background, or disability. Conduct that infringes on the rights of another individual will not be tolerated.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student. Additionally, any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion may be considered as academic misconduct. For more information on academic misconduct policies and procedures please review the Student Code of Conduct or visit the resources available in the OSRR website.

AI Policy

In GOVT 2305 all work submitted needs to be generated by the respective student. Students should not have another person/entity do the writing of any portion of an assignment for them, which includes hiring a person or a company to write assignments and/or using artificial intelligence (AI) tools like ChatGPT. Use of any AI-generated content in this course qualifies as academic dishonesty and violates Texas A&M-San Antonio’s standards of academic integrity.
