Catalog Course Description:

This course develops a conceptual framework for understanding and using corporate financial statements. It is oriented towards the user of financial accounting data (rather than the preparer) and emphasizes the reconstruction of economic events from published financial data.

Course Objectives:

Financial Accounting is the foundation for your business studies. The objective of this course is to provide prospective users of financial statements with a thorough understanding of the accounting fundamentals as effective financing and investment decision-makers. The course provides students with a solid grasp of the assumptions and logic inherent in accounting techniques, their implications and their potential economic consequences. A critical attitude is encouraged throughout the course.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of the course, students are expected to:

- Understand basic accounting concepts, e.g., accounts, adjusting entries, financial statements, etc.
- Analyze how business transactions affect financial statements and how they are included in a firm's accounting information system.
- Successfully analyze accounting information to make investing, financing, and operating decisions.
- Use Microsoft Excel and Tableau for financial data analyses and data visualizations.

Required Materials:

- Textbook: Financial Accounting by Warren, Jones, and Farmer, 1st edition (by Cengage)
- Blackboard: <http://tamusa.blackboard.com>
 - The most up to date syllabus and other materials, including lecture slides, homework assignments, quizzes and course announcements will be posted to Blackboard.
 - Discussion boards are available via Blackboard for student communication and discussions as you see fit for class interaction in the online environment.
- Computer software:
 - Microsoft Excel
 - Tableau

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Policy:

This course assumes that all work submitted by students will be generated by the students themselves, working individually or in groups. Students should not have another person/entity do the writing of any portion of an assignment for them, which includes using artificial intelligence (AI) tools like ChatGPT.

Course Communications:

I will communicate any clarifications, changes and/or additions during class or using announcements via Blackboard. Students should monitor this several times a day. You will be responsible for any information I communicate to you via Blackboard. If you have any questions, please send me an email (xfei@tamusa.edu) using your university student email.

Course requirements every student must fulfill in order to succeed in this course:

1. The course is intensive and challenging and you are expected to take an active role in your own learning. The structure of the class makes your individual study and preparation outside the class extremely important.
2. Ensure to set up expectation of time for this course. Change based on your course needs. You are expected to spend 3-6 hours per week for the course. Based on the background, some students may need more time. Time spent may be longer when assignment/exams are due.
3. Do not delay. Plan on being successful by beginning your study NOW. The instructor will not be revising the grading systems based on anyone's initial poor performance.
4. Students should check the Course Calendar, Announcements, and Messages (e-mail) systems in Blackboard on a regular basis.
5. Students should keep current with all course assignments, quizzes, and examinations.
6. Students should ask questions and communicate with the instructor either in class, online, off-line or during office hours.

How to Be Successful in This Course:

In any course, a reliable structure to guide your learning of content is essential. Each week will follow the same basic format:

- During class: You should come to class ready to actively engage in learning the material. I can help to synthesize the material, point out the key concepts, and help structure your thinking. Students generally learn far more in less time during our class sessions than they do on their own.

- After class: You should review the course materials, work on your assignments or projects, and visit office hours that are available each week if needed.

Most of all, if at any time you think there is something more that I can do to help you, please don't hesitate to ask. I want you to enjoy the course, do the best you can, learn as much as you can, and understand the importance of accounting.

Grading Policy:

The final course grade will be based on your performance on the quizzes, exams, projects, and class participation using the following weights:

Quizzes	15%
Final Exam (Comprehensive)	25%
Projects
Beneish M-Score (individual)	10%
DuPont (individual)	20%
Group Project	20% 50%
Class Attendance and Participation	10%
Total	100%

The final letter grades will be assigned as follows: Above 90% ⇒ A; 80 – 89.99% ⇒ B; 70 – 79.99% ⇒ C; 60 – 69.99% ⇒ D; below 60% ⇒ F. There will be no grading on a curve.

This course has a requirement of a grade of C as a minimal grade for satisfactory completion of this course.

Quizzes and Exams:

There will be three (3) quizzes and one final exam during the semester. The exam/quiz will consist of conceptual multiple-choice questions, problem solving questions, and/or short essay questions. The exam/quiz materials will come from lecture notes and class discussions. Questions will emphasize your understanding and applications of concepts and topics covered in class. Additional exam and quiz details will be provided prior to the test dates.

Make up and Late Exam/Quiz Policy:

As a general rule, make-up or late submissions will NOT be offered or accepted for any missed exams/quizzes. Late submissions or make-ups may be accepted/administered only in extra-ordinary circumstances such as an excused official university activity, a severe illness, or a dire emergency. However, you must provide comprehensive documentation either before or within a few days of the missed quiz/exam.

Projects:

There will be three (3) projects for this course. The objective of the projects is to stimulate your critical thinking, get experience examining the financial data, and enable you to apply the concepts you have learned from the class to real data and cases.

Class Attendance and Participation:

A vital part of every student's education is regular attendance of class meetings. You are expected to attend and participate in all class meetings. Excessive absences will negatively affect your course grade.

Any quiz/project missed due to class absence may further adversely affect your overall course grade. Students will earn 2% for each class for attendance and participation for a maximum of up to 10%.

Students are strongly encouraged to ask questions in class, participate in class discussions and problem solving, and visit/contact the instructor during office hours in case of questions or concerns. Good attendance and participation will be rewarded when final grades are assigned.

Class Conduct and Civility Code:

Everyone in class is expected to follow all rules in the student handbook, as well as common courtesy during classroom lectures and discussions in class and online, including the following:

1. Attendance may be made at the beginning or the end of the class.
2. Students must retain copies of all assignments and graded work for verification purposes and provide it to the instructor, if necessary. Keep your own copies of all computer files and e-mails till the final grade is received.
3. Talking while the instructor is lecturing is extremely disruptive and discourteous to the instructor and other students.
4. Using computers or phones (except for a valid urgent need) during class for a purpose not related to class is disruptive. All cell phones and gadgets should be turned OFF and headphones removed.
5. For any questions about the exams and quizzes, a student should contact the instructor, well in advance of the day they are due, so the instructor may have enough time to provide feedback.
6. All communications will be via e-mail communications to the Texas A&M University e-mail account, and students are expected to use their school provided email account. The instructor will reply to a student e-mail messages within 2 business days (Monday-Friday).

Anyone violating these policies may be subject to disciplinary actions.

The faculty will provide the Office of Financial Aid with an electronic notification if a student has not attended the first week of class. Any student receiving federal financial aid who does not attend the first week of class will have their aid terminated and returned to the DoE. Please note that any student who stops attending at any time during the semester may also need to return a portion of their federal aid.

Religious Observances:

Texas A&M University-San Antonio recognizes the diversity of faiths represented among the campus community and protects the rights of students, faculty, and staff to observe religious holidays according to their tradition. Under the policy, students are provided an opportunity to make up any examination, study, or work requirements that may be missed due to a religious observance provided they notify their instructors before the end of the second week of classes for regular session classes.

Respect for Diversity:

We understand that our students represent diverse backgrounds and perspectives. When we are equity-minded, we are aware of differences and inequalities and are willing to discuss them so we can act to resolve them. The University is committed to building cultural competencies, or the attitudes, skills, and knowledge that enable individuals and organizations to acknowledge cultural differences and incorporate these differences in working with people from diverse cultures. Respecting and accepting people different than you is vital to your success in the class, on campus, and as a future professional in the global community. While working together to build this community we ask all members to:

- Share their unique experiences, values, and beliefs.
- Be open to the views of others.
- Honor the uniqueness of their colleagues.
- Value each other's opinions and communicate respectfully.
- Keep confidential discussions that the community has of a personal (or professional) nature.
- Use this opportunity together to discuss ways in which we can create an inclusive environment in this course and across the A&M-San Antonio community.

The Six-Drop Rule:

Students are subject to the requirements of Senate Bill (SB) 1231 passed by the Texas Legislature in 2007. SB 1231 limits students to a maximum of six (6) non-punitive course drops (i.e., courses a student chooses to drop) during their undergraduate careers. A non-punitive drop does not affect the student's GPA. However, course drops that exceed the maximum allowed by SB 1231 will be treated as "F" grades and will impact the student's GPA.

A&M-San Antonio has staff members trained to support survivors in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, and more. The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the university. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and other healthcare providers) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. This means that if you tell a faculty member about a situation of sexual harassment, sexual violence, or other related misconduct, the faculty member must share that information with the university's Title IX Coordinator. Violations of Academic Conduct (Section 14.5 Student Handbook)

Students at Texas A&M University-San Antonio are expected to adhere to the highest standards of academic honesty and integrity. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, multiple submissions, misrepresentation of academic records, facilitating academic dishonesty, unfair advantage, violating known safety requirements and ethical misconduct. Students are expected to do their own course work. Simple cases of first offense cheating or plagiarism by an individual student may be handled by the instructor after consultation with the department chair. The student is usually confronted with the evidence in private and advised of the penalty to be assessed. The evidence will be retained for at least one full year. For more serious cases, such as those involving repeated offenses, conspiracy with other students or the theft and selling of examination questions, a report should be made by the instructor via the department chair and college dean to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities.

Academic dishonesty is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct; therefore, the instructor SHALL report any form of academic dishonesty to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Both parties (provider and copier) will be held responsible for the misconduct. Please review the Student Handbook for a complete description of the process. Penalties for academic dishonesty may range from a grade of F on the particular paper or in the course to expulsion from the University.

Considering the potential consequences of academic misconduct, it is obviously in students’ best interests to avoid even the appearance of such behavior. If a student is unclear whether a specific act might constitute academic misconduct, please she/he should contact the instructor for an assessment of the situation.

All student term papers and other written assignments are subject to analysis by anti-plagiarism software. Posting of any class work given to students, or solutions, or discussion, on publicly accessible forums or on social media is not permissible.
