Course Description

This course will strengthen students' understanding of the systems, structures, and functions for managing emergencies, with special focus on events whose scale, scope, onset, and volatile nature have the potential to outstrip routine medical and public health resources. Among the topics addressed are interagency coordination, incident command system, disaster risk assessment, whole community preparedness and response, all hazards planning approaches, epidemiology and surveillance, mass casualty care, medical countermeasures, crisis and emergency risk communication, at-risk and vulnerable populations, and ethics and legal authorities.

Learning Objectives

Upon successfully completing this course, students will be able to:

- Define what constitutes a public health emergency and what comprises the emergency management cycle – i.e., prevent, mitigate, prepare, respond, and recover
- Describe what is meant by community readiness and community resilience
- Identify the 10 Essential Public Health Services and the 22 Foundational Competencies and how they apply to large scale crises
- Delineate the major agencies, organizations, and programs at local, state, and federal levels that play significant roles in the context of an extreme event and management of health impacts
- Explain approaches to disaster risk assessment
- Articulate strategies to design an all-hazards preparedness plan as well as corollary plans for specific hazards, calling out common functions such as epidemiological surveillance and incident command
- Elucidate the value to public health preparedness of training, exercising and evaluating
- Know when and how public health law and legal authority apply during a public health emergency response
- Distinguish the challenges and opportunities associated with medical countermeasures including distribution operations, logistics, ethics, and public communications

- Illustrate strategies to achieve medical surge during large-scale emergencies, including ways to align public health and healthcare system responses and to implement crisis standards of care
- Convey the basic principles and practices of crisis and emergency risk communication, including approaches for managing health misinformation and building up public trust
- Expound upon, and develop strategies that address the unique needs of children, persons with access and functional needs, and other populations in disaster situations

Course Work and Grading Criteria

Participation (20 points; 5%)

Your attendance and advance preparation for discussion are essential to your learning and that of others. Assigned readings illustrate key concepts within the lecture material and will enable greater success in group exercises and your written work. Attending class will deepen understanding of course materials and better prepare you for written assignments. If you arrive on time and attend the class, you will receive full credit. You will be docked for a significant late arrival (>5 mins), and receive no credit for unexcused absences. (20 points; 5%)

Trainings (60 points; 5% each, 15% total)

Over the course of the semester, you will participate in 3 on-line trainings:

#1: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) offers a wide range of trainings to professionals and the general public. Before accessing the course below, you must register for a FEMA Student Identification (SID) number - <https://cdp.dhs.gov/femasid/register>. The course takes about 2 hours to complete. To earn a certificate of completion, you must take a final exam. To receive credit, you must upload a certificate of completion (note: certificates can take up to 24 hours to arrive via email, so student should plan accordingly).

- An Introduction to the Incident Command System, ICS 100 (due Jan 30, 11:59 pm)
<https://training.fema.gov/is/courseoverview.aspx?code=IS-100.c&lang=en>

#2 and #3: The Natural Hazards Center at the University of Colorado – Boulder hosts the CONVERGE facility which takes an interdisciplinary approach to emergency management. You will complete the 2 CONVERGE training modules below, each of which takes an hour. Your participation requires that you first register with the CONVERGE Training Module Program - <https://converge.colorado.edu/resources/training-modules/>. To earn a certificate of completion, you must take a quiz and receive at least 80%. To receive credit, you must upload the certificate to Blackboard by the due date.

- Public Health Implications of Hazards and Disaster Research (due Mar 6, 11:59 pm)
- Social Vulnerability and Disasters (due Apr 6, 11:59 pm)

Jurisdictional Risk Assessment (JRA) Review (60 points; 15%)

You will prepare a 3-page memo based upon a critical review of a state or local JRA. Every 5 years and as a condition of federal public health emergency preparedness (PHEP) funding to states, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) requires a JRA whose ultimate purpose is to improve decisions and actions for preparedness and response. Among top JRA objectives are identifying and ranking hazards of concern; characterizing the potential impacts of those hazards upon people's health and on medical, public health and mental/behavioral health systems; and outlining steps to be ready for and to mitigate those impacts. If you have trouble locating a JRA to review, you may select one of the following. (due Feb 11, 11:59 pm)

- https://portal.ct.gov/-/media/departments-and-agencies/dph/public-health-preparedness/hva/2022-ctdph_hazard-vulnerability-analysis_final-june-13-2022.pdf
- <https://hazards.utah.gov/wp-content/uploads/2019-JRA-Statewide-Report-Final.pdf>

- <https://www.hennepin.us/-/media/hennepinus/residents/emergencies/docs/jurisdictional-risk-assessment-2019.pdf>

Your memo should address the following questions:

- What process did the jurisdiction employ to develop the JRA?
- Which stakeholders weighed in on the JRA content?
- Which priority threats has the jurisdiction identified?
- What impacts is the jurisdiction most concerned about?
- To what extent is the JRA forward-looking (e.g., does it account for a dynamic/volatile climate)?
- What concrete steps is the jurisdiction taking to reduce its risks?
- Is there consideration for the needs of vulnerable, at-risk, and/or underserved populations?
- What strengths and weaknesses do you see in the JRA – e.g., how useful is the assessment?
- What new insights do you have as a result of critically reviewing the JRA?

University Risk Assessment (60 points; 15%)

President Ochoa has appointed you as the public health emergency manager for TAMUSA. He has asked for a university risk assessment report in which you identify the likely hazards to have substantial impacts on the health and wellbeing of the university body (students and staff); he also wants you to recommend measures to reduce both the chances and the consequences of an extreme event. Your report should take the form of a memo (3-4 pages) in which you characterize the university's real public health risk landscape drawing from sources relevant to San Antonio, Bexar County, and Central/South Texas, and recommend actions to be taken by specific actors in the university's leadership structure – see the TAMUSA organization chart at

(due Mar 27, 11:59 pm)

Health Misinformation Game Play (40 points; 10%)

The Analysis and Response Toolkit for Trust (ARTT) project supports health communicators, educators, and other responders working to inform local, online communities, including through a Web-based software assistant that frames possible responses for everyday conversations around complicated topics. As part of a larger collaboration with ARTT, students will engage in an online game that simulates decision-making on how best to communicate with the public about medical countermeasures such as antivirals and vaccines in an emergency. The class assignment involves playing the game (outside the class) and completing a debriefing worksheet, in preparation for class discussion of experiential lessons learned (due Apr 20, 11:59 pm).

Ethics Reflections Essay (40 points; 10%)

You will write 2-3 pages of reflections on Sheri Fink's article "The Deadly Choices at Memorial," guided by the prompts below. This reporting chronicles the traumatic events at Memorial Medical Center in Uptown New Orleans when care providers wrestled with the ethical questions of how best to care for patients when the floodwaters of Hurricane Katrina threatened the facility, eventually stranding it and cutting off water and electricity (due Apr 30, 11:59 pm).

- What went wrong at Memorial Medical Center after Hurricane Katrina?
- What was the evacuation procedure at Memorial? What challenges did doctors and nurses face as they began to evacuate patients? Which were evacuated first? Do you agree with this decision?
- What tragic choices did the health care providers feel that they had to make in the stranded and inoperable hospital? Do you agree with their approach? How do you feel about the justifications for their actions?
- How would you react if you had to make decisions about prioritizing rescue and emergency services in a disaster? What process for ethical decision-making would you hope to have?
- What can be done to prevent a similar scenario from unfolding in the future?

Expectations for Written Work

Please use correct spelling, grammar, and punctuation, as well as a mature writing style. Prior to submitting any written work, please use grammar/spell check (e.g., Editor function in Microsoft Word) and/or a trusted person to look for any obvious errors for you to correct. Be sure to review the artificial intelligence policy below. Written assignments with numerous mistakes and/or poor writing style will lose points. If you need support for your writing, please alert me AND consult with the Writing, Language, and Digital Composing Center - <https://www.tamusa.edu/student-resources/writing-center/index.html>. When preparing bibliographies, please use the American Psychological Association style guide found at <https://apastyle.apa.org>. In addition, all written assignments should follow the format below:

- ☐ 1-inch margins
- ☐ 11-point Arial font
- ☐ 1.5 spacing

Artificial Intelligence Policy

No Use of Generative AI Permitted

This assumes that all work submitted by students will be generated by the students themselves, working individually or in groups. Students should not have another person/entity do the writing of any portion of an assignment for them, which includes hiring a person or a company to write assignments and/or using artificial intelligence (AI) tools like ChatGPT. Use of any AI-generated content in this course qualifies as academic dishonesty and violates Texas A&M-San Antonio's standards of academic integrity.

Deadlines

Please hand over all assignments by 11:59pm on the scheduled due date. I will not accept late work, with the rare exception of an unanticipated, catastrophic event.

Courteous Conduct

Your individual behavior strongly influences the ability of the class to function as a scholarly community. Please read assignments in advance, come to class on time and stay until the end, be respectful when someone else is sharing an idea, and refrain from using any digital medium that distracts you or others from classroom activities.

NOTE: Syllabus potentially subject to change. We will occasionally have guest speakers, and accommodating their schedules may require some tweaks.

Under the policy, students are provided with an opportunity to make up any examination, study, or course work requirements that may be missed due to a religious observance provided they notify their instructors before the end of the second week of classes for regular session classes.

The Six-Drop Rule

Students are subject to the requirements of Senate Bill (SB) 1231 passed by the Texas Legislature in 2007. SB 1231 limits students to a maximum of six (6) non-punitive course drops (i.e., courses a student chooses to drop) during their undergraduate careers. A non-punitive drop does not affect the student's GPA. However, course drops that exceed the maximum allowed by SB 1231 will be treated as "F" grades and will impact the student's GPA.

Statement of Harassment and Discrimination

Texas A&M University-San Antonio is committed to the fundamental principles of academic freedom, equal opportunity, and human dignity. To fulfill its multiple missions as an institution of higher learning, A&M-San Antonio encourages a climate that values and nurtures collegiality and the uniqueness of the individual on our campus and within our state, nation, and world. All decisions and actions involving students and employees are to be based on applicable law and individual merit. Texas A&M University-San Antonio, in accordance with applicable federal and state law, prohibits discrimination, including harassment, based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or pregnancy/parenting status. Individuals who believe they have experienced harassment or discrimination prohibited by this statement are encouraged to contact the University's Civil Rights Officer at 210-784-2061 or titleix@tamusa.edu. Texas A&M University-San Antonio faculty are committed to providing a safe learning environment for all students and for the university. If you have experienced any form of sex discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic or dating violence, or stalking based on sex, know that help and support are available. A&M-San Antonio's Title IX Coordinator can support those impacted by such conduct in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, and more. The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the Title IX Coordinator. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and trained victim advocates) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. This means that if you tell a faculty member about a situation of sexual harassment, sexual violence, or other related sex-based misconduct, the faculty member must share that information with the university's Title IX Coordinator (titleix@tamusa.edu, 210-784-2061, CAB 439K). If you wish to speak to a confidential employee who does not have this reporting requirement, you can contact the Student Counseling Center at (210) 784-1331 or visit them in Madla 120.

Pregnant/Parenting Students

Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide reasonable accommodation for pregnant students as it would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that is related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784- 2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. The Title IX Coordinator can provide students with information regarding support services and other resources. Young Jaguars can support parenting students with daycare if students meet this criteria: (1) must be enrolled in classes at Texas A&M-San Antonio in the current semester, (2) must be Pell eligible or a single parent, (3) child(ren) must be aged 3 to 12-years-old, and (4) child(ren) must be enrolled in Pre-K-3 through 6th grade. For more information, please contact Young Jaguars at youngjaguars@tamusa.edu or call (210) 784-2636.

Students' Rights and Responsibilities

The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

Students' Rights

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.
4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university students' rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.

3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student. Additionally, any behavior specifically prohibited by a faculty member in the course syllabus or class discussion may be considered as academic misconduct. For more information on academic misconduct policies and procedures please review the Student Code of Conduct or visit the resources available in the OSRR website.
