Even before the American Revolution, “America” represented an entirely new vista of possibilities to Europeans, from conquest and profit to rebirth and independence. On the other hand, “America” held many different meanings for Indians, free and enslaved Africans, lower-class white Europeans, and successive waves of immigrants from all over the world. The United States has grown out of these struggles for meaning among social groups, cultural and intellectual traditions, and political movements. In this class, we will explore how the idea of America evolved from Reconstruction to the present. What did it mean to be an American? What did “America” symbolize on the world stage. Because this is a college course, it requires students to sharpen their ability to think about facts and not just memorize them. Students will discuss, interpret, analyze, and write – activities that represent core academic skills needed to succeed in college and the wider professional world.

We will develop these skills in a series of History group activities, during class time and sometimes outside of class. In these activities, students will get the opportunity to do the work that historians do, exploring artifacts, images, film clips, advertisements, and other primary documents to draw some conclusions about not only the ‘what’ but also the ‘how,’ ‘why,’ and the ‘so what’ of history. Keeping up with the reading schedule, completing assignments on time, taking good class notes, and attending class meetings prepared to discuss assigned topics are each CRUCIAL!!!! This course meets the standards for the American History category of courses under the core curriculum.

Learning Outcomes: At the end of this course, the student will be able to:

1. Create an argument through the use of historical evidence.
2. Analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources.
3. Analyze the effects of historical, social, political, economic, cultural, and global forces on United States history prior from 1865 to present

Classroom Policies

Participation/Attendance Policy: You must be present in order to succeed in this course. This means faithful, punctual attendance.

Discussion Board: These will take place online via Blackboard. For each of these posts, you will respond to the question that I pose and then respond to 2 other students to receive full credit.

Reflection Papers: You will write three, 2–3-page reflection papers covering topics that the instructor assigns. Papers will need to be double-spaced and 12-point font. Once the topic and topic question are given, you can utilize the WLDD Center to help you work on flow of paper. Your opinion matters and it is acceptable to use "I" in reflection papers in my class.

Quizzes: You will be completing 4 quizzes online via Blackboard. The quiz will be open for 1 week and is posted in your syllabus. Once you start the quiz on Blackboard, it will be timed, and the clock will begin then.

Civility Code: We will participate in discussions that occasionally touch on controversial issues. Therefore, it is important that we show respect for each other in the tone and content of our comments. You should strive to treat your classmates not only the way you would like to be treated (the Golden Rule), but the way they would like to be treated (the Platinum Rule).

Make-Up Policy: My policy on make-up of work will be fluid due to the circumstances of life. I will work with every student in the class to make this experience positive. Please make sure to communicate with me often so that we can put a solid plan in place if there are unforeseen circumstances.

Academic Dishonesty: Students at Texas A&M University-San Antonio are expected to adhere to the highest standards of academic honesty and integrity. Title IX Coordinator (titleix@tamusa.edu, 210-784-2061, CAB 439K). If you wish to speak to a confidential employee who does not have this reporting requirement, you can contact the Student Counseling Center at (210) 784-1331 or visit them in Madla 120.

Pregnant/Parenting Students

Texas A&M-San Antonio does not require a pregnant or parenting student, solely because of that status or issues related to that status, to (1) take a leave of absence or withdraw from their degree or certificate program; (2) limit the student's studies; (3) participate in an alternative program; (4) change the student's major, degree, or certificate program; or (5) refrain from joining or cease participating in any course, activity, or program at the University. The university will provide reasonable accommodation for pregnant students as it would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that is related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784- 2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. ## Students' Rights and Responsibilities

The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

Students' Rights

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.
4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university students' rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.
3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. Academic misconduct is any act, or attempt, which gives an unfair advantage to the student.
