I make every effort to be available to aid you in your learning process.

Email: Only use official university e-mail and include course and section (e.g., PSYC 3325) and full name in subject line. Please do not use Blackboard messages. My university email is my primary and preferred point of contact outside of the classroom. I check my email regularly on Monday – Friday from 8 to 5. Within that timeframe, I will generally respond within 24 hours. If you don't hear back from me, email again in the event your message went to my Junk email box. On the weekends, I am generally not available by email, but will reply on the subsequent Monday. If you need to contact me, plan ahead. In all communications, be specific. Your correspondence MUST include information as specified above. If you send an email without sufficient information, I likely won't reply. Additionally, begin a new email thread in lieu of responding back to one of my emails if you are beginning a new conversation unrelated to the previous email. Professional language and formatting is expected (i.e., avoid informal correspondence styles like text messaging).

Course Description

Course Content: What society has deemed mentally abnormal (i.e., psychopathology) has varied over the ages as a function of time, place, culture and circumstance. Combining cutting edge research in brain neuroscience with knowledge of psychological and sociocultural factors, this course will trace the history of the construct of mental illness, and culminate in a critical evaluation of current DSM 5 diagnostic categories. Topics include specific mental disorders as well as the role of psychological resilience and wellness. Integrated throughout the course will be discussion of the influence of sociocultural factors on mental health and the practice of psychology more broadly. The overall focus will be on the underlying science, etiology, and current treatment modalities, especially evidence-based practices (EBPs), for major mental illnesses.

Objectives—Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Describe the historical development of the construct of 'mental illness' over time.
2. Integrate empirical research on mental illness with 'real-world' practice issues.
3. Identify key features, etiology, diagnostic criteria, and treatment for major categories and specific diagnoses of mental illness in the DSM-5 (2013).
4. Critically analyze the role of mental illness in families, communities, institutions.
5. Evaluate the impact of stigma and discrimination experienced by those diagnosed with mental illness, and formulate a more informed, reasoned, scientific, and compassionate response.

Course Mechanics

We will meet once weekly for 2 hours and 45 minutes. I expect punctuality. If you have to miss a class for any reason, please let me know by email as soon as you know you'll be absent. Unexplained absences will reduce your grade. Because we only meet for 15 lecture days, three absences will potentially cost a letter grade. Only rare exceptions will be made (for example, illness, with relevant documentation). I also expect participation. Lack of contribution to class discussion will also impact your grade. The course readings will require about 1 to 3 hours per week outside class.

Performance Expectations

Course content is intensive. There is a large amount of information to cover; we will not have time to cover all assigned textbook material in class. Students are nonetheless expected to master all assigned content (textbook, classroom discussion/lecture, Blackboard postings/articles/videos). All readings and tasks are assigned for a specific educational purpose—no assignments are irrelevant or frivolous. Therefore, be sure to read/view all assigned materials and make sure to take notes!

TIPS TO BE SUCCESSFUL:

1. Read each chapter and take notes prior to scheduled class/week.
2. Attend scheduled classes.
3. Participate! It's much more fun that way.
4. Pay attention to deadlines. There are no "make-ups" for exams, except for an extremely limited set of circumstances, discussed with me prior, and with proper documentation.
5. Participate. Volunteer information. Ask questions. It's YOUR education.
6. As with all university courses, you should plan to commit a minimum of 9-12hrs per week (outside of class) reading, note-taking, and studying for course.

By taking this course, students agree:

1. To maintain reliable internet access and computer access;
2. To regularly check Jaguar email accounts (all correspondence must be via this);
3. To regularly check Blackboard for any new posting, assignment, or announcement;
4. Syllabus and course docs have been read in detail and acknowledged;
5. To attend (participating, etc.). Attendance is required and monitored; students may be dropped for non-attendance per university policy;
6. The NEW COVID policy addendum, appended to this syllabus, has been read and acknowledged.

Classroom Discussion: This course sometimes deals with complex, challenging, and sometimes controversial subject matter. Psychology intersects with every aspect of human existence: relationships, religion, emotions, beliefs, values, sexuality, culture and society itself. We will respect all of these different contributions; however, in the study of abnormal psychology – we will ultimately rely upon science and the process of scientific inquiry to answer questions about how and why humans suffer with mental disorders and how we might go about helping to alleviate such suffering. Every student's input is welcome; however, you must cultivate a style of responding that is respectful and informed. Lastly, choose to have fun in this course! You will learn things that might actually change your life!

Classroom Etiquette: Students are expected to attend class and participate regularly. Please turn off all mobile phones during class; please do not text during class. Unless approved as a DSS accommodation, no electronic devices are permitted during class, including laptops, iPads, netbooks, recording devices etc. Bring old-timey pens/pencils and notepaper to take notes! Students are expected to arrive with notes, having read the assigned readings prior to each class. Please be prepared to be called upon in class and engage in lively discussion.

DROP DEADLINE - Self-Monitoring Progress: Students are responsible for monitoring their own progress and performance in this course. Students are expected to note the final day for dropping the course, (i.e., last day to drop with a "W") and make decisions accordingly. NOTE: Students will not be dropped from the course later (past the "W" deadline) simply due to failing grades. Make drop decisions in advance of drop deadline, and unenroll yourself.

Texas A&M University-San Antonio faculty are committed to providing a safe learning environment for all students and for the university as a whole. If you have experienced any form of sex discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, domestic or dating violence, or stalking based on sex, know that help and support are available. A&M-San Antonio's Title IX Coordinator can support those impacted by such conduct in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, and more. The university strongly encourages all students to report any such incidents to the Title IX Coordinator. Please be aware that all A&M-San Antonio employees (other than those designated as confidential resources such as counselors and trained victim advocates) are required to report information about such discrimination and harassment to the university. This means that if you tell a faculty member about a situation of sexual harassment, sexual violence, or other related sex-based misconduct, the faculty member must share that information with the university's Title IX Coordinator (titleix@tamusa.edu, 210-784-2061, CAB 439K). If you wish to speak to a confidential employee who does not have this reporting requirement, you can contact the Student Counseling Center at (210) 784-1331 or visit them in Madla 120.

The university will provide such reasonable accommodations to pregnant students as would be provided to a student with a temporary medical condition that are related to the health and safety of the student and the student's unborn child. These could include maintaining a safe distance from substances, areas, and activities known to be hazardous to pregnant individuals and their unborn child; excused absences because of illness or medical appointments; modified due dates for assignments; rescheduled tests/exams; taking a leave of absence; and being provided access to instructional materials and video recordings of lectures for excused absences, if these would be provided to any other student with an excused absence. Pregnant/parenting students are encouraged to contact the Title IX Coordinator with any questions or concerns related to their status (titleix@tamusa.edu; 210-784-2061; CAB 439K).

Texas A&M-San Antonio has also designated the Title IX Coordinator as the liaison officer for current or incoming students who are the parent or guardian of a child younger than 18 years of age. The Title IX Coordinator can provide students with information regarding support services and other resources. Students' Rights and Responsibilities: The following statement of students' rights and responsibilities is intended to reflect the philosophical base upon which University Student Rules are built. This philosophy acknowledges the existence of both rights and responsibilities, which is inherent to an individual not only as a student at Texas A&M University-San Antonio but also as a citizen of this country.

Students' Rights

1. A student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas, and there shall be no University rule or administrative rule that in any way abridges the rights of freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U.S. Constitution.
2. Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the University, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, and pregnancy/parenting or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws.
3. A student has the right to personal privacy except as otherwise provided by law, and this will be observed by students and University authorities alike.
4. Each student subject to disciplinary action arising from violations of university student rules shall be assured a fundamentally fair process.

Students' Responsibilities

1. A student has the responsibility to respect the rights and property of others, including other students, the faculty, and administration.
2. A student has the responsibility to be fully acquainted with the published University Student Rules found in the Student Handbook, Student Code of Conduct, on our website, and University Catalog, and to comply with them, as well as with federal, state, and local laws.

3. A student has the responsibility to recognize that student actions reflect upon the individuals involved and upon the entire University community.
4. A student has the responsibility to recognize the University's obligation to provide a safe environment for learning.
5. A student has the responsibility to check their university email for any updates or official university notifications.

We expect that students will behave in a manner that is dignified, respectful, and courteous to all people, regardless of sex, ethnic/racial origin, religious background, or disability. Conduct that infringes on the rights of another individual will not be tolerated.

Students are expected to exhibit a high level of honesty and integrity in their pursuit of higher education. Students engaging in an act that violates the standards of academic integrity will find themselves facing academic and/or disciplinary sanctions. [Psych 3325] assumes that all work submitted by students will be generated by the students themselves, working individually or in groups. Students should not have another person/entity do the writing of any portion of an assignment for them, which includes hiring a person or a company to write assignments and/or using artificial intelligence (AI) tools like ChatGPT. Use of any AI-generated content in this course qualifies as academic dishonesty and violates Texas A&M-San Antonio's standards of academic integrity.
